The Fort Wayne & Lima Railroad purchased in the 20ies several semi-lightweight combines built by St. Louis in an effort to cut operating costs.

Identical cars were delivered to the Indiana Service Corporation. Shortly after delivery, this cars were one-manned by turning "back to front".

When the Fort Wayne & Lima was abandoned in 1932, five cars were purchased by the Oklahoma Railway.

A sixth car, #91, was used as a building and is preserved by the Illinois Railway Museum.
